SOMEWHAT EXCITED.

Some of the Service Pension Advocates Give Expression to Their Grievances.

The Service Pension Association met last night in the Circuit Court room, when the committee on organization made a report concerning the meeting to be held Monday night. Gen. T. W. Bennett, Judge Olds and others will then speak. It was stated that the Sons of Veterans, Loyal Legion and German Veterans will attend the meeting in a body.
Dr. A. J. Smith was called out for a speech, ard said that "by the unknown God, the only God he knows anything about, if that God spares his life, he will not vote a straight ticket again." An unknown member back in the audience urged that if Congress does not pass a service pension law Washington and seize the Treasury.
His remarks received applause. Mr.
Haskeli made a speech, advocating a boycott of the New England manufacturers who make and sell rebel flags. He also broached the subject of the Morrill pension bill, and announced himself opposed to it. He thought if it passed a service pension law would never be enacted. He was met with exclamations on all sides that the service pension or none was the cry. "No compromise," one man shouted, "would be tolerated. Our demand is right or it is wrong, and we will fight it on that line." In one of impromptu speeches, it was said that flags are made on material controlled by Gen. Benj. Butler, on which there is a heavy duty, and that the association should do nothing by way of a boycott that would reduce the revenue from that source. Every cent would be needed, it was said, for the service pension.

AN ORDINANCE IN DOUBT.

The Street-Railway Franchise a Matter That Causes Councilmen a Great Deal of Worry.

Within the next week the railroad committee of Council will hold a conference with Mr. Shaffer, at which the proposed street-car ordinance will be discussed in detail. The councilmen are divided in opinions upon the merits of the ordinance, although all are unanimous in the belief that a change of some sort would be beneficial. "For my part," said Councilman Gasper yesterday, "I think after the ordinance is changed a little it will be as good a thing as the city could ask. And the changes that I would make are immat-

"What do you think of offering the fran-chise to the highest bidder when the company's present charter expires?" he was

"Well, I am opposed to that in the start.

The present franchise has eleven years to run, and at the end of that time, some say, we could make a half-million dollars, for example. But they forget that during those eleven years, under an extension, we would be getting back all of our money and more, too, in street improvements. I can't see why we should wait when we have an opportunity of making a contract that would be beneficial to the city from every point of view."

Councilman Yontz, although heartily in favor of the new ordinance, thinks a benefit could be derived from competition. "It is a good plan," he said to a reporter. "to offer the franchise to the highest bidder, and I also think we might gain by allowing other companies to come in. Indianapolis only has one rapid transit line, and the time has come when animal power must go. The city is spread over a great amount of territory, and our people want to travel with something like speed, as well as comfort. There is no doubt but that competition would be a benefit, but the question of street improvements enters very largely into the question, and the ordinance proposed makes special provision to cover that point."

EVENTS TO OCCUR.

Exercises of the Indianapolis Sunday-School

The anniversary of the Indianapolis Sunday-school Association, to be observed to-morrow, promises to be an interesting occasion. At 4:30 P. M. a conference will be held in the lecture-room of the Second Presbyterian Church, to which each school in the city is requested to send a delegate, when reports will be rendered, the condition of the schools considered, the officers of the association elected for the coming year, and several matters of general interest will be introduced.

At night the exercises will be in Roberts Park Church, where all the teachers of the eity are invited to assemble. The programme calls for reports from the officers and addresses by the Rev. Dr. Rondthaler, Rev. W. F. Taylor and Professor Jones, superintendent of public schools. A graduating class of twenty-eight, having pursued a two years' course of study, will receive diplomas and the officers-elect for the association will be installed. The congregations of the second Presbyterian, the Tabernacle, English Lutheran, First Baptist and of other churches will unite with the congregation of Roberts Park and all the pastors will be present to participate in the devotional part.

Classical School Declaimers. The annual prize declamation of the advanced department of the Girls' Classical School was given last night at the Tabernacle Church, in the presence of a very large audience. Miss Florence Day won the first prize, and Miss Georgia Galvin the second, the prize in each case being a set of books. Miss Pearl Landers received honorable mention. The judges were W. P. Fishback, Rev. N. A. Hyde Miss Nebraska Cropsey and Miss Margaret Mamilton. To-night, in the school gymnasium, there will be exercises in reading and voice culture by pupils of the intermediate department, the programme being varied with singing by the lower primary, primary and intermediate classes. Convention of Humane Societies. . For some time there has been a manifest desire on the part of the various branches of the Humane Society, in the different cities of the State, to meet and hold a convention, for the purpose of more effective or-ganization and the discussion of the work of the society. The directors of the local society met yesterday, and decided to call a convention to be held in this city on Aug. 19 and 20. It was also requested that each society in the State send to the secretary of the Indianapolis Humane Society, W. H. Hobbs, No. 74 East Market street, a full list of its officers. The directors also discussed the work of the local society, and decided to employ an agent in addition to the hu-mane inspector. Applicants for the new position are requested to confer with the secretary.

Serious Accident.

Daniel Koosher was badly hurt yesterday afternoon, at the corner of Madison and McCarty streets, by being thrown from his horse. He struck on his head and has not since regained consciousness. He was taken to the City Hospital, and the doctors in charge say they cannot yet tell whether the injury is fatal or not. THE SUNDAY CAR QUESTION.

Mr. Shaffer Resigns as President of the Y. M. C. A .- What the Assistant Secretary Says.

John C. Shafter, president of the Young Men's Christian Association, tendered his resignation at a called meeting of the directors of that institution yesterday afternoon. For a few days past there has been criticism concerning Mr. Shaffer's permitting, as president of the Citizens' Streetrailroad Company, the running of cars on Sunday on suburban lines. It was claimed that such conduct was unbecoming one who has always taken an active part ın local religious work. Mr. Shaffer, in a letter to the public, stated that the matter of Sunday transportation was not under his control, but that his general superintendent, Mr. Steele, was the proper person to consult about that matter. Even this, however, did not put a stop to the criticism, and Mr. Shaffer determined. Thursday last, to tender his resignation as president of the Y. M. C. A. Accordingly, he called a meeting of the directors yesterday afternoon, and a quorum of seven were present, including T. H. Spann, W. J. Richards, C. D. Meigs and W. W. Grant. Mr. Spann, as vice-president, was chairman, and requested the secretary to read the following letter addressed to the directors by Mr. Shaffer:

I herewith tender you my resignation, to take effect this day, as president of your association and as a member of your directory. I need not go into detail as to why I tender you my resignation at this time. In acting upon the same, I trust you will consider only the interest of the association, and that you will not be influenced by any sentiment or feeling that you may have for me personally. I do not desire to shield myself from the criticisms that have been recently made by some of the ministers of this city behind the Young Men's Christian Association or made by some of the ministers of this city behind the Young Men's Christian Association or any individual. I am prepared to take the full responsibility that rests upon me as president of the Citizens' Street-railroad Company.

Permit me to thank you all for the very courteous and kind manner and disposition you have shown towards me during the past two years, and while I may not be longer associated with you officially, I hope to retain the kindly feeling you have entertained and expressed for me in the past. I earnestly trust that he who may be elected to the presidency of the association may be blessed of the Master, and that his labors will be greatly prospered.

will be greatly prospered. The contents of the letter were a sur-The contents of the letter were a surprise to several members of the board, and it was the unanimous expression that Mr. Shaffer should be induced to change his determination. Resolutions were then drawn up recognizing "the self-sacrificing, earnest and efficient services of Mr. Shaffer, his high character and devotion to the cause of the Master, and his labors for and in the interests of the association." He was further requested to reconsider his action and to withdraw his resignation,

The officers of the association deeply regret Mr. Shaffer's action and will use every effort to retain him as their president. "It is easy to see his position," said Fred R. Rosebro, assistant secretary of the associa-tion, last night. "Some of the ministers of the city were too severe upon him in the matter of running Sunday cars to the suburbs, and, as he said in his letter, he does not wish to place either himself or the association in a false light before the

"Do you blame the ministers for their stand?" asked the reporter.
"I cannot say anything on that question, because our association does not criticise the ministry. We do not encourage denominations here, but work only in the interests of the young men of Indianapolis. Every minister of the city is a member by virtue of his work, but they have not assisted us as they should. Out of fifty or more pastors personally invited to be present at one of our meetings, only one came, and yet they have compelled our president to resign. Mr. Shaffer cannot ask every passenger on his Sunday cars whether he is going to church or to a beer-garden. It would be absurd. The ministers of this city have a vote at the polls, and if they city have a vote at the polls, and if they want to abate a nuisance they can do it by their ballots. Let them assist us in putting down the saloons and beer-gardens. Let them go to the courts if necessary, but I do not see that Mr. Shaffer should be so severely criticized."

Next Monday night the regular monthly meeting of the board will be held, and if Mr. Shaffer does not in the meantime withdraw his resignation his successor will be elected.

Sent to the Grand Jury.

Point for Makers of Epigrams. A favorite saying in connection with the coinage issue is that: "Gold is aristocracy; silver is democracy." If that is true the countries which use silver the most ought to be examples of the purest democracy; but when we come to apply the rule to those great silver-using countries, India and China, we find that it does not work. The makers of epigrams should try to bring them into some accordance with the facts.
